note from the playwright:

This is a play that I've wanted to write for a long time. Stained Glass Shattered is inspired by and dedicated to a part of my past that I reflect on often, with mixed feelings. I am filled with love for the Patients and sorrow for the things that brought us all together. It is not easy being young, trying to find oneself while the world feels like its crumbling.

Trying to be better but unable to be fixed.

I'm so grateful to have the opportunity to put voices to this story, and so grateful to have an audience open to receiving and working with me. This is not a finished project, and I cannot wait to continue moving forward. Thank you!
